Planning the future

Environment and quality of life items high on everyone's list

It was not surprising perhaps that quality of life issues and protection of the environment were high priority items when citizens from throughout the county met in Haliburton last week to help develop a vision for the future of the Highlands.

The public consultation was organized by a committee of county councillors with facilitator Chris Bryant. At the meeting, called 'Toward a Strategic Plan for the County', the over 100 participants were asked to identify the strengths and weaknesses of the region, and then help develop some strategies for positive change in the near and medium future.

Haliburton County Warden Murray Fearrey was on hand to welcome the participants to the meeting. In his opening remarks he noted that two years ago the county made a commitment to create a strategic plan by 1997 and have an official plan in place by 1998. "This is our commitment to that process," he told the gathering.

Fearrey said that during the past 20 years the focus in the county has been on tourism. While acknowledging that it was an important part of the economy, he said the county must grow beyond that and not be "boxed in" by a single identity or focus. "Open your minds to the next 15 years," he challenged the participants.

Bryant explained that community-based planning, such as the group was involved in, is always the most successful. "If local people are not involved in the planning process and have some 'ownership' of the process, it is not likely to succeed," he told the meeting.

Mavor will not seek re-election

Stanhope Reeve Jock Mavor has announced that he will not be seeking re-election in the upcoming November municipal election.

The reeve announced his intention at the annual meeting of the Halls and Hawk lakes Property Owners Association, July 13 at Camp Kawabi. Mavor offered two reasons for not running, "I'm 75 (years of age)," he told the crowd. "It is not that I am having a health problem, rather, my health is still good and I want to take advantage of that."

The reeve had praise for the lake association saying, "It is groups like yours that make it easy to do my job."

Mavor said he did not want to advise the members how to vote in the upcoming election. However, he noted that the other members of council have all filed their nomination papers, and he did point out that municipalities are going through a major transition and suggested, "...you should keep continuity in leadership in mind when casting your vote." The other four incumbent members of Stanhope council have already indicated their intention to seek public office. Eleanor Harrison has filed for reeve; Murray Daniels for Deputy Reeve and Anne Barker and Jim Hicks for councillor.

Private company resurrects Bark Lake leadership centre

by Jerry Grozelle

When the provincial government announced it would be closing the Bark Lake Learning Centre near Irondale, there were fears that the operation would be sold to someone who would turn it into an exclusive country club.

That hasn't happened.

The centre was operated by the Ontario government since its beginning in 1948, but changing priorities resulted in the facility being sold. The centre had the reputation as an excellent leadership training facility and many were concerned the educational opportunities offered at Bark Lake would be lost.

Enter Izumi Outdoors, the company that produces Bob Izumi's Real Fishing Show, Real Fishing Radio and Real Outdoors Magazine.

"We are very excited about the future of this outstanding centre," said Wayne Izumi, president of Izumi Outdoors, at a get-acquainted session at the centre July 21. "For years, Bark Lake has been synonymous with top notch leadership training. We intend to continue that tradition by offering world class training programs and by hiring the best qualified staff

Blood Donor Clinic attracts 240

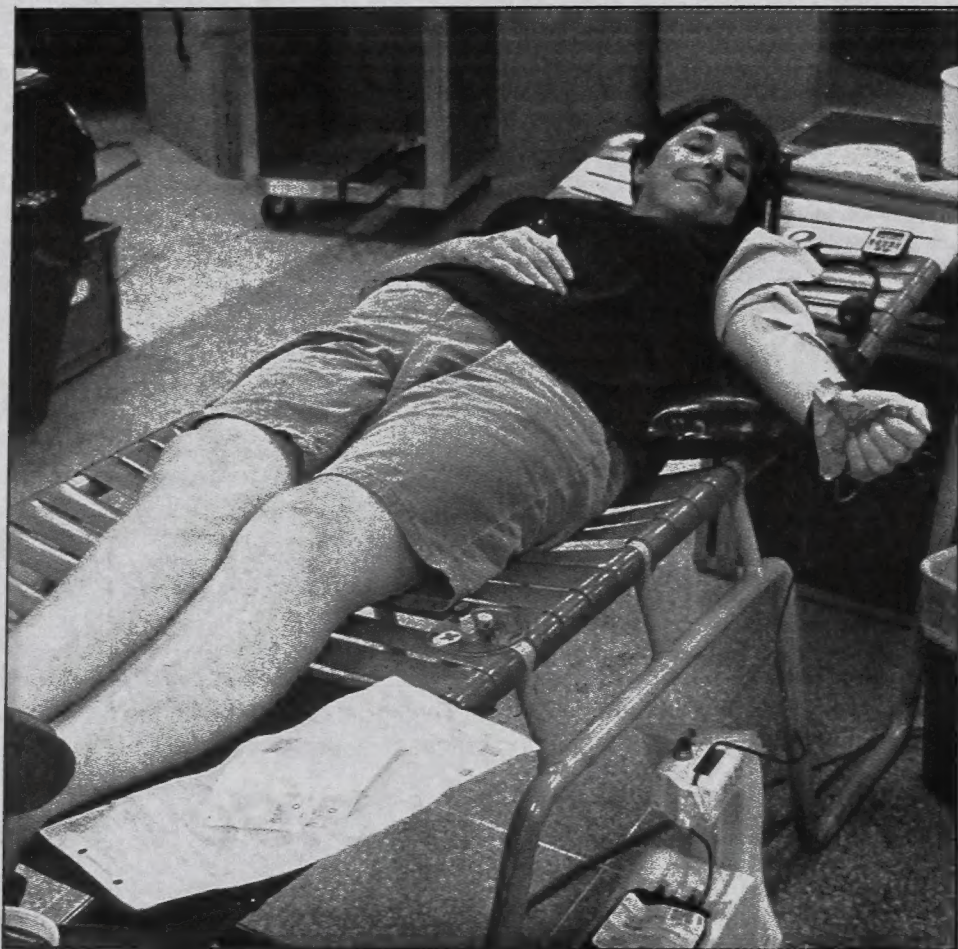

The generosity of Haliburton County residents was evident at the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic held July 22 at the Haliburton Legion.

Over 240 people made an appearance at the clinic, of which 200 waited patiently for their turn to donate. Though the clinic's goal was 220 donors, a representative from the Red Cross stated "it was a great turnout... (The donations) were greatly needed and appreciated..."

Thanks to everyone who took time out of their summer to come in and donate."

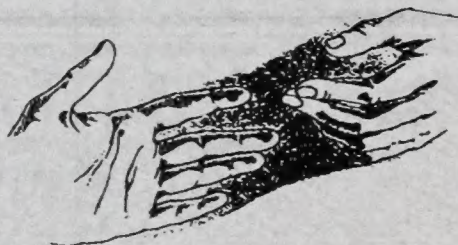

Special recognition should also go to the members of the Haliburton Legion and Legion Auxiliary who provided the donors with refreshments and some delicious cookies before and after the procedures.

The next clinic will probably take place in about four months. Watch this paper for details.

Bark Lake to honour historic mandate to implement them."

Close to 100 invited guests attended the official opening, including politicians, business partners and educators.

"We have a real mix of people here," Izumi said. "I encourage you to intermingle."

Wayne Izumi said that when he first saw Bark Lake, he was struck by the natural beauty of the place.

"I've had a wonderful opportunity to do business all over the world," he said. "In a lot of cases I think we lack leadership skills in the business community. It seems like I'm always competing against the Americans. They seem to have better training and I think a lot of it is because they've had military training and they've learned leadership skills."

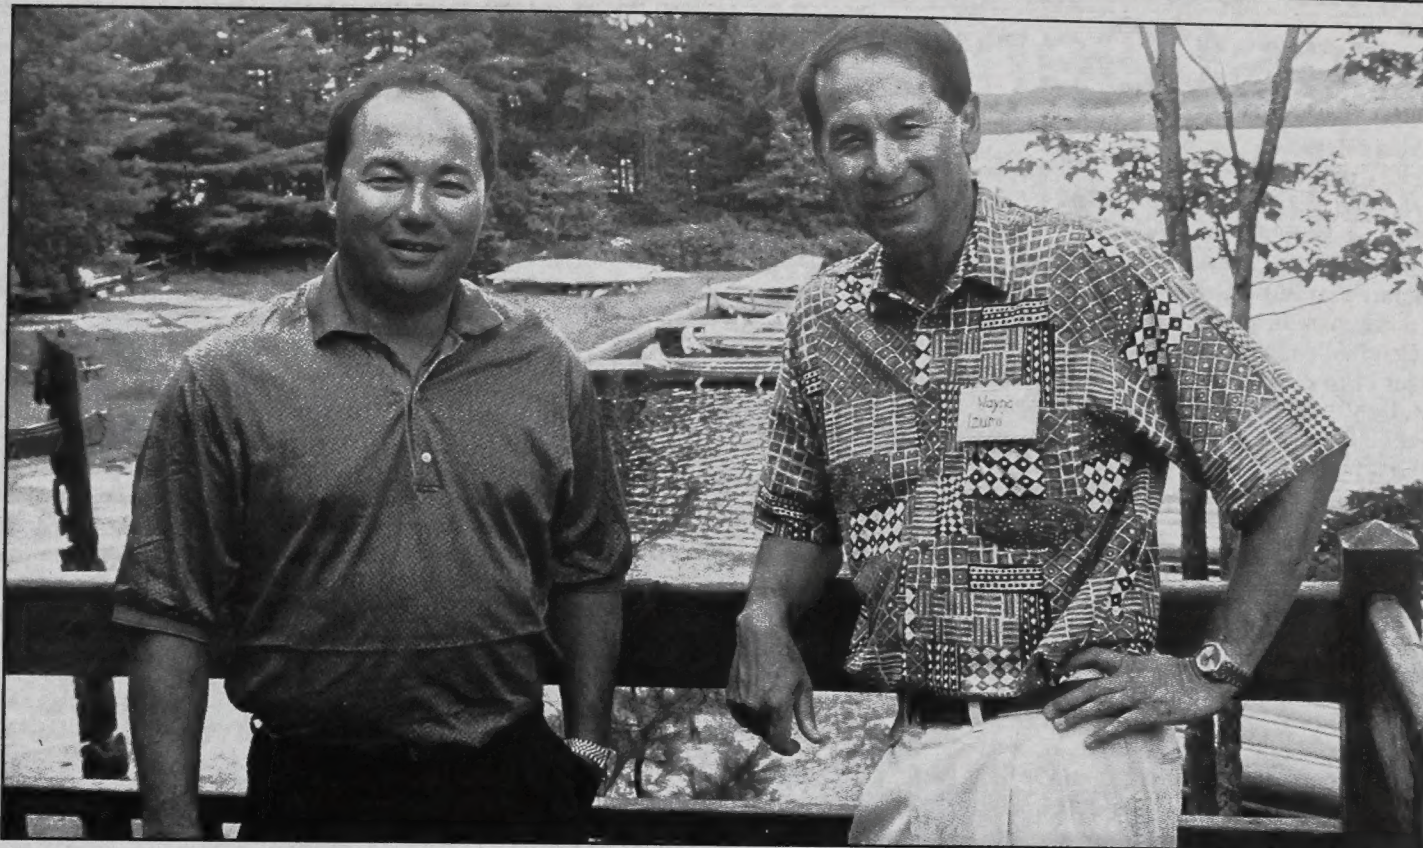

Izumi said that for nearly 50 years, the government has been teaching leadership skills at Bark Lake, but because of downsizing, the government is getting out of the leadership training business.

"If we can have anything to do with helping to continue with this program, I think it's a wonderful mandate," he said.

Izumi noted that a number of students participating in the Shad Valley Program, a technology and entrepreneurship program for advanced students, were receiving environmental training at Bark Lake during the month of July.

Mountain Lake aircraft noise levels will not be regulated

by Jerry Grozelle

Mountain Lake property owners gathered at Archie Stouffer Elementary School July 5 for their annual meeting. Members were brought up to date in many of the issues of concern and the executive for the coming year was elected.

Noise

The executive of the Mountain Lake Property Owners' Association has decided to take no further action on the noise levels generated by the aircraft based on the lake.

Transport Canada was contacted and tests were conducted. The test results didn't warrant regulations, according to the Transport Canada report. Six take-offs and landings were observed over a three day period.

Ian Daniel, outgoing president of the association, explained that tests showed the airplane generated a maximum of 104 decibels (db) on take-off, which is very loud. But the duration is 30 to 50 seconds.

By comparison, Daniel noted that a large outboard motor generates 80 to 85 db. He qualified that statement by saying that 100 db is four times as loud as 80 db. The decibel level at rock concerts often reaches 110.

The association executive spent $80 on a db meter and managed to obtain free legal advice.

"The association feels it is not feasible to proceed further," Daniel said.

Several members of the audience were not ready to give up at this stage. It was noted that sometimes the plane takes off and lands as often as five or six

Frost Centre celebrates its heritage

by Misty Bennett

Nestled on the shores of Lake St. Nora just outside of Dorset, sits the Leslie M. Frost Centre. An indomitable structure that has stood at its present site for more than 50 years.

Originally the Centre was a forest ranger school, which trained students in fire fighting, forest management and other courses of a similar ilk.

Last week the Centre hosted over 100 people for an afternoon of demonstrations and tours as well as a buffet dinner and a special presentation of "On the Shores of St. Nora" a multi-media musical celebration of the Frost Centre's heritage. The concert of original songs was composed by recording artist David Archibald, specifically for the Frost Centre.

Visitors were given a tour of the various sites and rooms of interest. Among the programs now taught to primarily elementary school students are classes in water management, forestry management, trapping and a variety of other nature related topics.

The Frost Centre is equipped with rooms dedicated to specific areas of interest such as a room full of mounted exhibits of animals and pelts and a room dedicated to forest fire control and prevention.

Two, hour-long pontoon boat tours were offered to visitors as well, providing for a different view of Lake St. Nora.

The Frost Centre can accommodate 180 individuals at full capacity in two dorm facilities and a smaller dorm section in the kitchen building. The Centre is currently teaching students (grade six

Halls/Hawk Lake Association pitching in for Mother Nature

If there was a need to illustrate the dedication of the members of the Halls and Hawk Lakes Property Owners Association to the well being of their lakes, Larry Hewitt, a representative of the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association provided it on July 13. Hewitt was guest speaker at the lake association's annual meeting at Camp Kawabi.

Hewitt told the meeting that last year his group asked for volunteers from a number of associations to assist in shoal improvement work, (dropping tons of rocks into the water to improve the lake trout spawning beds). "On one lake, much larger than yours, a similar

Every piece tells a story...

by Misty Bennett

Fans, stars, flowers, and numerous geometric designs — along with a few meandering patchworks — abounded at the first annual Quilt, Rug and Fibre Arts Antiques Show at the Minden Community Centre this weekend.

Quilts were displayed on hanging frames and were used in conjunction with other antiques to show how they might have been used years ago — props from Gambell's Antiques & Nostalgia, Haliburton Chamber of Commerce and the County Town Museum helped complete the atmosphere.

One display of a family bedroom boasted a bed draped in quilts and accompanied by other items contemporary to the period. Another display had four mannequins snuggled into their respective quilts around a campfire. A children's play room had quilts lining cribs, on the doll's beds, and a quilt strung between two chairs — the perfect childhood fort.

Thin plastic gloves were handed out at the entrance for patrons who wanted to do more than just admire the quilts from a distance. Some of the more elderly submissions — frail with age — were marked with requests "please, do not touch".

There were quilts of all descriptions and colours, some functional, others that were more decorative, a number that were both, and a few one would never want to put anywhere near a bed, where any accidental spill may find it.

There was a quilt portraying the provincial flowers, and a centennial quilt — dated 1967, made by Jean Hewitt Fox, displayed at the Minden Fair, and a first prize winner in the year of Canada's centennial.

There was an interesting quilt made by visitors to Miner's Bay Lodge — the tag it bore stated that "each square represents something special about the lodge to the guest who made it." The quilt squares depicted numerous images from nature scenes to clowns.

A knitted quilt created by L.C. Beach and dated 1899 was made for her son Benson. Knitted into the pattern was an excerpt from the Biblical Sermon on the Mount.

Beach created ten of these amazing works of art, one for each of her sons. The quilt on display at the show is the last remaining one.

Merchants of quilting and rug hooking supplies were present. Demonstrations of both quilting and hooking took place throughout the day.

Rita Rottman, Canada's only quilt appraiser was also present.

Various hooked rugs and wall hangings decorated the upper level of the arena. Ships and the sea dominated rugs and hangings in a section devoted to a nautical theme.

Many of the wall hangings and rugs comprised scenes and patterns including flowers, houses, and many other beautiful designs.

Organizers can hope the success of the first annual Quilt, Rug and Fibre Art Antiques Show will lead to bigger and more successful shows in years to come.

Building on the county's strengths

"It doesn't matter what the upper levels of government do, it is the people at this level who are the key."

To expedite the discussion, the meeting was divided into smaller discussion groups each led by a facilitator. The first portion of the afternoon was spent identifying the community's strengths and weaknesses. Among the strengths that were identified by the group were:

- beautiful natural environment with few stresses
- integrity and adaptability of the people

- spirit of community
- a slower pace of life
- proximity to large population centres

- reasonable labour rates
- clean water
- timber resources
- diversity of the community
- a valuable mix of skills and abilities (especially among the seasonal and retired populations)

Among the weaknesses the group identified were:

- too much parochialism
- lack of services for seniors
- a division between permanent and seasonal residents

- inadequate transportation system
- few opportunities for youths
- lack of a year-round economic stability

- many of the jobs are minimum wage

- lack of promotion of the county
- lack of centrally located, affordable housing
- concern about access to health care services

- too strong a focus on tourism
- local governments have been too reactive and should be more pro-active.

From this base, the participants were then asked to develop a vision of the future of the county, taking advantage of the strengths and recognizing, if not eliminating the weaknesses. A number of themes emerged from this exercise:

- Increase co-operation across the entire county. Broaden everyone's outlook to consider what is best for the larger community.

- Co-ordinated planning, with a single body (county council) taking a stronger lead in identifying goals and plans to achieve them.

- Quality of life issues should take precedence over financial issues.

- Diversification of the economy by encouraging clean, light industry. Pursuing foreign investment and improved transportation facilities. Build on the tourism base with such programs as elder hostels, eco-tourism, outdoor education.

- Improved marketing which clearly identifies who is being targeted and why.

- Environmental priorities, including preserving Crown Land, encouraging managed development, county-wide environmental and density standards.

- Increased contact between permanent and seasonal residents

- More opportunities for youth and seniors, including taking advantage of seniors' experience and youthful energy.

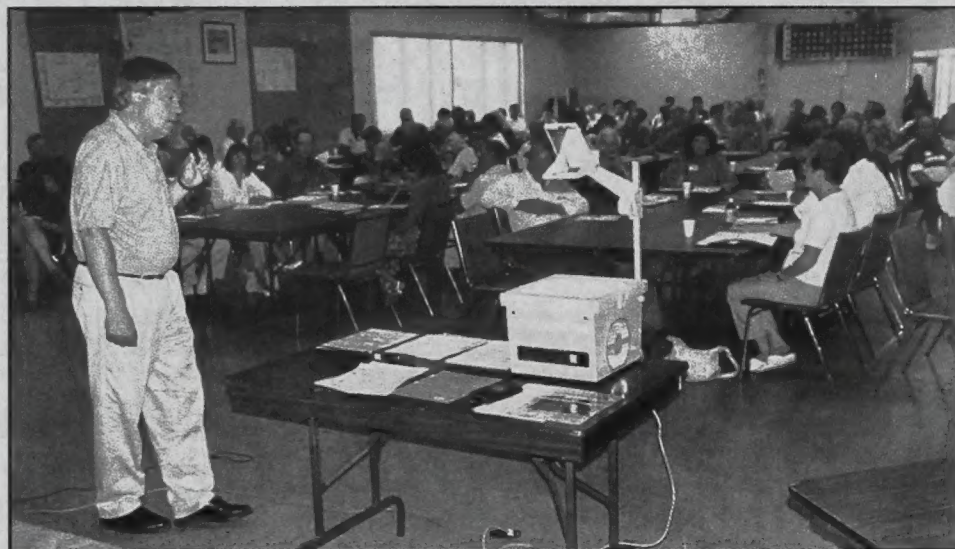

- A unified approach to events and activities promotion.

- Improved and secure health services for the area to give residents and people thinking of moving here security in knowing what services are available.

Bryant told the group, by defining these issues, it had taken the first step toward making Haliburton County a better place to live. He said the next step is to take these issues and develop a more detailed plan to deal with each of the areas.

The group hopes to do just that with a follow-up meeting planned for August 21 at the Stanhope Fire Fighters Hall. Bryant said two meetings will be held that day, one between 2 and 5 p.m. and a second between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. The public is encouraged to attend and participate.

Facilitator Chris Bryant leads the the group through the strategic planning process, Thursday at the Haliburton Legion Hall.

Planning for a better future

Editorial

The visioning process which took place Thursday afternoon could be a valuable exercise that will have long-term benefits for the future of Haliburton County.

Over 100 enthusiastic citizens from throughout the county were on hand to assist in plotting a future for our small part of the world. The process was being driven by a committee of county council and so naturally there was a strong presence of both elected officials and municipal staff. However, it was more than just a political exercise. The participants included individuals from just about every aspect of the community and county. There were business owners, seasonal residents, loggers, farmers, permanent residents retired individuals and representatives of most interest group in the Highlands. These people had responded to a call for input on the future of the area. They came because they are concerned about the county's future and want to help shape where it is going.

They brought with them perspectives as wide and diverse as one could hope to find in one room. And they eagerly dove into the task of identifying the county's weaknesses and its strengths and then helped develop strategies which capitalized on the positive aspects.

Naturally, it is not an easy task to co-ordinate input from such a large number of individuals. Facilitator Chris Bryant was an excellent co-ordinator. Assisted by leaders at each of the discussion tables, the process ensured that every individual had an opportunity to add his or her thoughts to the process.

The result was an impressive and comprehensive list of ideas that will form the basis of the next series of meeting during which the directions identified will be further developed. The process will take some time to reach a working solution, but the enthusiasm shown last week indicates that the community general supports and would like to see something positive come out of this exercise.

While we endorse the optimism of the participants, and in fact counted ourselves among those who contributed to the exercise, we also are somewhat cautious about where this process will lead. This ideas were good, the enthusiasm was high, the participation rate excellent. These are all elements we have seen before in studies and assessments that have been carried out by various bodies. In most cases the results have been interesting and well documented reports which, after having been received with due fanfare, have been quietly tucked away on a shelf and quickly forgotten.

We are optimistic the current visioning process can deliver a more positive outcome. However, for it to succeed there must be a will to see the recommendations through to action. We believe that will, which must be directed by the elected municipal officials, is there. However in a few short months the leadership of the county is scheduled to undergo a major change as a fresh crop of municipal politicians takes control of the county's destiny.

We can only hope the will is there to support and nurture this visioning process from this starting point right through to the other side of the election and beyond. It would be a travesty if the efforts begun last week became nothing more than another in a long line of reports gathering dust on a shelf.

Exceptional care

Editor:

I had occasion to need the services of a doctor recently, owing to a severe infection in my cheek.

I went to Minden Hospital where the doctor and the attending nurses took exceptional care of me. I had to have intravenous treatments over approximately three days which cured the problem.

However, shortly after, I became ill again (not related) and had to go back to Minden

Hospital where, once again, I was given the best of care and attention before being sent by ambulance to Peterborough.

My main reason for writing is to say how wonderful the doctors and nursing staff are here in this little hospital. The care I received was first class and I sincerely thank everyone concerned, especially attending physician, Dr. Murray.

Bear with us

A black bear prefers berries, grubs, roots, leaves or carrion found in its natural habitat. This year the late spring delayed the berry crop and other succulent food sources for bears. So bears are attempting to fill that gap with easier food sources, namely human food, compost and garbage.

A bear also has a very keen sense of smell. It can detect food from great distances. To prevent a visit from a bear, the best thing to do is remove food attractions from your property. This includes:

- regularly disposing garbage and compost (in some cases, it may mean stop composting)

- keeping barbecues and picnic tables clean

- waiting until late fall to fill the birdfeeder

- removing a hummingbird feeder if it becomes an attractant

- keeping pet food inside the house

If there are no attractants, there is no reason for a bear to visit your property. If a bear is spotted on your property, give it time to move on, then immediately remove the attractant.

NEVER feed bears. This could make a bear aggressive and it might have to be destroyed. The black bear can remember food locations and can become accustomed to artificial sources which may increase confrontation and aggression among bears competing for these food sources.

Live trapping and removal is a last resort. Live trapping is very hard on bears. Those which are removed to strange terrain often face hardship. There is also no guarantee that the offending bear will be caught. Live trapping and removal is very expensive in terms of staff time and operating costs, especially considering that simple preventive measures may solve the problem.

Trying to live trap a sow with cubs is dangerous. Often, the inexperienced cub gets caught in the trap. This creates a temporarily dangerous situation for anyone who comes between a trapped cub and its mother. It also creates a hardship, because it will be very difficult to trap the mother as well and relocate the family as a unit.

Just seeing a bear is not cause to call the ministry office or the local police. If there is nothing to encourage the bear to stay, it will likely move along and not return. MNR's advice is to do everything to avoid unwanted encounters with bears.

Just like a barrel of monkeys

Chances are if you ran into Phil and Roberta at a cocktail party or a barbecue, you wouldn't be particularly impressed. You'd think they were pretty average people and you'd be mostly right. They're in their 40's; they run a graphic arts business from their comfortable two-storey house in upstate New York; they have a couple of youngsters, name of Casey and Charlie.

Middle-class, middle aged and middle of the road.

Except for one thing - those two youngsters? Casey and Charlie? They're girls.

And that's not all. They are also chimpanzees.

The older chimp - Charlie - came into Roberta's life three years ago when she heard Charlie's owner was going to sell her to a medical lab. Roberta gave her hubby Phil a nice candlelight and wine dinner that night. Over coffee she asked him how he'd feel about 'adoption'.

Phil must have had a fair bit of wine. He said 'Why not?'

Two years later they realized that Charlie was suffering from lonesomeness. They tracked down Charlie's younger half-sister, Casey, at a private zoo in Missouri. Adopted her too.

How big a commitment is it, playing mom and dad to a pair of chimps? Very big. Most people don't know it, but cute and cuddly baby chimps grow up to be willful and pretty much unpredictable adults.

And very, very strong. At the age of only five, a chimpanzee can weigh more than 200 pounds. They have razor-sharp teeth and a vice-grip bite that can chomp right through a human arm. A single adult chimp has the body strength of five or six full-grown men. And when they hit adulthood, chimps don't move out and find an apartment of their own. Your average chimpanzee will live for 50 years.

Even as infants, chimps are more than a handful. They need nearly constant exercise and full-time attention too. Phil and Roberta's house looks more like a Jungle Gym than something out of Canadian House and Garden. The living room is festooned with ropes and swings. The furniture is all industrial-strength and indestructible.

And the humans haven't had a night off since they took in Charlie and Casey.

"You can't just hire a baby-sitter and expect them to be able to cope" says Roberta. "Chimps are very demanding - and they don't take to strangers."

Ironically, Phil and Roberta have been taking heat from animal rights groups which give them a hard time for taking the animals out of their 'natural' surroundings.

The animal righters don't appreciate that Charlie and Casey have never lived in the wild and without Phil and Roberta, both chimps would probably be languishing in some stainless steel medical lab providing statistical fodder for scientific experiments.

What's even more ironic is that Phil and Roberta agree, in a way. "These creatures are really out of time and place" says Roberta. "(Their ancestors) should really have been left in the jungle. I feel bad that they don't have a real home."

Well, Casey and Charlie aren't faring badly, under the circumstances. Roberta and Phil give them more love and attention than most human youngsters get.

And for what? Well now, that's where it gets interesting. Because Casey and Charlie clearly give back something very real in the relationship they have with their two humans. You watch the four of them together and you become aware of a sense of wonder passing back and forth between the two species. The chimps are fascinated by the humans, and vice versa. There is a tangible bond of love shimmering in those great, moist chimpanzee eyes. And to watch the chimps hug and kiss (and, well, check their parents for fleas) is to see true familial affection in action.

And sometimes when you see Charlie pluck a ringing telephone off the wall and hold it to her ear, or pour a cup of tea as neatly as your Aunt Winnie, or see Casey yawn and smack her lips and pull the covers over her shoulders as she drifts off to sleep just like any pre-school child...

Sometimes you lose track of just who is chimp and who is homo sapiens.

World Cup Slalom

The Minden Wild Water Reserve will be the site of the World Cup Slalom August 1-3. Park at the Minden fairgrounds and take a shuttle bus to the site.

Anglers compete for cash and prizes

Two live-release bass tournaments were held at Haliburton on the weekend of July 19 and 20, both sponsored by the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association.

Turnout wasn't as good as organizers had hoped, but participants generally agreed that both events were successful.

Gals and Pals

The first Gals and Pals live-release Bass Tournament saw some of the teams do very well. The top team of the day was Karen Black and Jim Dodds of Peterborough. They weighed in a total of 12.40 pounds. They also had the big fish of the tournament, which weighed 3.30 pounds.

Theresa Johnston and Scott Bird of Haliburton were a close second, with 10.75 pounds.

Third went to Karen Smith and Dan Gainfort, with 9.15 pounds.

Debra Lymburner and Michael Lymburner of Grimsby were fourth with an even seven pounds.

Donna Morse and Corey Lincoln of Oshawa weighed in 6.10 pounds for fifth place.

Erin Kennedy and Chris Little of Haliburton placed sixth with 2.20 pounds and seventh went to Maria Parrott and Tom Parrott of Haliburton, with 1.35 pounds.

HHOA Tournament

Scott Bird and Chris Coumbs of Haliburton were the best anglers in the 1997 Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association Bass Tournament. They finished first in the field of 26 teams with a total weight of 13.55 pounds.

Another Haliburton team, Mike Thomas and Jason Mueller, placed second with a total weight of 11.80 pounds.

Third place went to Jim Dodds and Chris Giles of Peterborough with 6.5 pounds.

The big fish of the tournament was a 6.2 pound smallmouth, caught by Mike Thomas. He received the Varty Jewelry and Gifts Trophy.

The youngest team entered was Mark Hamilton and Mike Hill, who received the Bruce's Barber Shop Trophy.

Fishing was tough, with 46 fish weighed in. All 46 were live-released.

TOP ANGLERS: Karen Black and Jim Dodds of Peterborough show off some of their winnings. They took first place in the Gals and Pals Bass Tournament.

Organizers prepared for World Cup Slalom

Horseshoe Lake One, from Highway 35 to the Horseshoe Lake Bridge, just above the Minden Wild Water Preserve, will be closed to all but residents, emergency vehicles and shuttle buses this weekend, August 1 to 3. That is the weekend of the World Cup Slalom finals at the preserve. Residents of that area will be issued passes, but spectators will be required to access the site by shuttle bus from the Minden fairgrounds.

Bryan Kernohan, who is assisting with the organization of the transportation to and from the event, said that an information booth will be located at the junction of Highway 35 and the Horseshoe Lake Road.

"We will also be handing out maps for people looking for Blairhampton Golf Course," Kernohan said.

Kernohan is recruiting "white water ambassadors" (volunteers) to help with the organization of the parking at the fairgrounds, to hand out information and to give directions and to act as cashiers. The return bus fare will be $2 and parking is free.

Kernohan said he would like to have a minimum of 25 volunteers to assist throughout the weekend. Minden Amateur Radio Club officials have offered to assist with communications and Kernohan said he will be taking them

Twelve Mile Lake yields 16 pound lake trout

Anglers in the Highlands have been having some luck landing the big ones in recent weeks. Ken Watamanuk of Kitchener caught this 16 pound lake trout from Twelve Mile Lake on July 5. Watamanuk usually prefers fishing early mornings and a couple of hours before dusk, but he was out on the lake at 10 a.m. when this lunker struck. Details, such as technique and terminal tackle, were unavailable.

Minden Minor Softball logo contest

Minden Minor Baseball is changing its name to reflect a more accurate description of the league. As of the 1998 season, the name will be Minden Minor Softball.

With the name change, the organization will need a new logo. To that end, a logo contest will be held. The contest will only be open to anybody who played during the 1997 season.

The designer of the logo which is chosen will receive a $50 cash prize plus free registration for the 1998 season. The logo should be the same size as the logo on the hats.

Entries in the contest should be sent to Grant Shaw, Church Road, RR1, Minden, ON, K0M 2K0. The entries must be received no later than Friday, August 29, 1997.

World Cup Slalom promised $20,000 government boost

Signs will be posted throughout Minden and the immediate area, directing visitors to the parking area.

The Ministry of Economic Development, Trade and Tourism is providing a grant of $20,000 to help cover the cost of producing videos for public television and promotion purposes, signs, advertising and identification bibs for the athletes.

The funds will be administered by the Haliburton County Development Corporation.

The world's top white water paddlers -- 130, from 21 countries -- will be competing in the final World Cup Slalom race of the 1997 season at the Minden Wild Water Preserve. Many of them competed at both the 1992 Barcelona and the 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games.

The course is known as one of the most challenging in the world.

Peter Nor, athletes' representative to White Water Canada and a member of the Canadian Canoe Association Board of Directors says, "The race site on the Gull River near Minden is one of the best race sites in the world, as well as my personal favourite. It is fast, challenging and defines what white water racing is all about."

A part of the International Canoe Federation's racing schedule, this is the fifth, and final race of the 1997 World Cup series. Canada has previously hosted World Cup races in 1989, 1991 and 1993. This will be the first time the final race will be held in Canada. Trophies will be awarded at the end of the racing.

Competing for Canada are David Ford, Nick

Costello, Tim Stuempl and Keith Klapstein in the K-1 category. Margaret Langford, Sarah Donnelly and Sheryl Boyle will represent Canada in the K-1W class. Larry Norman, Vince Osborne, Jamie Cartwright and Stig Larsson are Canada's C-1 competitors and the Canadian C-2 racers are Benoit Gauthier and Francois Letorneau.

This is an extremely dynamic and exciting sport for spectators," said Andrew Coombs, publicity chair of the event. "We encourage both the public and the media to join us for this world class event."

Changes to controlled hunt set for 1997 season

Hunting opportunities expanded in some areas

Natural Resources Minister Chris Hodgson announced a new approach to the controlled deer hunt that is more responsive to deer populations in agricultural areas, offers more deer hunting opportunities and provides improved customer service.

"The changes we are making to the controlled deer hunt will continue to ensure that Ontario's deer populations are managed in a sustainable way," said Hodgson.

The changes are expected to take effect for the 1997 deer hunting season. There are currently 17 wildlife management units (WMUs) that offer annual controlled deer hunts in five MNR districts in south-central Ontario.

"In providing more hunting opportunities, we will ensure that the strength and health of the local deer population is considered in relation to agricultural land use," Hodgson said.

The recommended changes increase hunting opportunities through longer seasons, where warranted, and by allowing hunters to take more than one deer in some areas. This will provide an opportunity to better control deer populations in areas where agricultural damage is a concern.

Expanded Controlled Deer Hunts Include:

Archery seasons will be expanded in many controlled deer hunt WMUs.

For shotgun and muzzle-loader deer hunting, Monday through Saturday hunts will be allowed in many controlled deer hunt WMUs. The hunting seasons in many controlled deer hunt WMUs will also be expanded.

Multiple game seals will be available in controlled deer hunt areas where there are sufficient deer populations. This may permit some hunters to take two deer in selected areas.

The recommended changes also improve the administrative system for the controlled deer hunts.

Administrative Changes Include:

Any person in possession of a valid Ontario Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs farmer registration number will be considered a farmer for the purposes of the controlled deer hunt.

Reporting hunting information continues to be an important method for MNR to collect information. As a result, archery hunters in controlled deer hunt areas will now be required to report their hunting activities to the ministry.

In order to streamline hunting eligibility, the definition of "immediate relative" of a farmer or landowner will be amended.

Once the regulation change has been enacted, the local MNR district or area office will provide specific information on deer hunting in the WMUs within its administrative boundary.

Haliburton wins two consecutive games

The Haliburton valu-mart men's soccer team swept a weekend series in Lindsay on the strength of Rich Simmons' five-goal performance. The two wins stretched the team's winning streak to three games and pulled the team even in the wins/losses department.

The first of the two games was on Sunday, July 20 against Lindsay This Week. The Haliburton squad rebounded from a two-goal, first-half deficit to edge the opposition 5-4.

Simmons got his game into high gear in the second half, scoring three unanswered goals, leading his team to victory. Andrew Baker and Peter Bertelsen each added a single marker to the Haliburton tally.

The next day brought the battle weary valu-mart squad back to Lindsay to tangle with Cedar Valley. Both teams, although employing the services of a few walking wounded players and lacking a full complement of troops, were prepared for a long battle.

Once again, the Haliburton crew fell behind when a Cedar Valley player scored on a breakaway.

The valu-mart team rallied with four goals. Nathan Stephenson notched two in his first game at forward and Simmons added two more to his weekend total. Cedar Valley fought back, cutting Haliburton's lead to 4-3, but the valu-mart squad prevailed by a 4-3 margin.

Simmons' impressive five goals in two games vaulted him to the top of the Haliburton team's scoring leaders for the season with seven markers to his credit.

The Haliburton team's record for the season, as of July 21, stood at five wins, five losses and one tie. That put Haliburton in fourth place in the six-team Lindsay Recreational Soccer League standings with 11 points.

The Admiral Inn squad leads the pack with 16 points, from seven wins, two losses and two ties. Donut World is second with six wins, four losses and one tie, for 13 points. Lindsay This Week has 12 points, from six wins and four losses. Cedar Valley trails Haliburton by a single point with a record of five wins and six losses. The Lindsay Collegiate team currently occupies the basement with four points from two wins and nine losses.

to Bark Lake from the parents of one of the Shad Program participants, Izumi quoted her saying that she had heard nothing but rave reviews about Bark Lake's Shad Program. The parents were very impressed with the facilities, stating that it is a great place for kids to spend the better part of a month and that it will be a wonderful memory for their daughter.

Izumi introduced

Clement Chan, president of Columbia International College in Hamilton, who is a partner in the venture. Izumi noted that Chan has a world-wide reputation as a leader in ESL (English as a second language) education. He has already brought groups of students from the Orient and Latin America to Bark Lake as part of their learning experience.

Owners excited by centre's potential

"The three business sectors are English as a second language, corporate leadership and youth leadership," Izumi said. "Those are the three major thrusts."

Peter Zuuring, another partner in the venture, compared his involvement with Bark Lake to Neil Armstrong walking on the moon 28 years earlier.

"As for me, getting involved with Bark Lake is a long shot," he said. "It's been a roller coaster ride and I can tell you, I'm very happy to be here today, with the partners that I have.

Zuuring said his first goal is to get high school kids to come to Bark Lake; to work with school boards to make a Bark Lake experience a part of their curriculum. He said it is important to continue the tradition of providing leadership and entrepreneurial training and he is especially proud of the fact that youth and corporate executives will have the opportunity to interact and learn from each other.

"I think this is going to be a wonderful organization and relationship," Zuuring said.

Wayne's brother Bob Izumi, host of the Real Fishing Show, is enthusiastic about the potential of Bark Lake.

"Wayne and I, being brothers, don't talk any more than we have to," Bob quipped. "When he asked me if I wanted to be involved with Bark Lake, I had just come home from a road trip and he caught me off guard. I said not really, because he really didn't explain what it was."

Fred Delsey, vice-president of Izumi Outdoors, convinced Bob to take a look at the operation.

"I was filming in Bancroft," Bob recalled, "So I stopped in on the way back. I couldn't believe the facilities. The way Wayne explained it, I thought it was an old fishing lodge."

Bob was so impressed he called Wayne and said, "I'm in."

The focus on education, as opposed to tourism, appealed to Bob.

Bob said the lake, itself, is a fragile ecosystem.

"A lake like this is like going back 50 years ago, as far as fishing goes," he said. "It's a phenomenal little lake. It doesn't get pressure. It doesn't get a lot of fish caught, kept and fried up. It has a healthy population of fish that, generally, only fly-in lakes offer. I'm happy to see that all the people associated with it treat it with respect because it's an awesome place to fish."

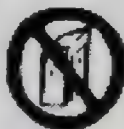

The Bark Lake Learning Centre is the only direct access to the lake. The only other access is over a half-mile portage from another lake or by aircraft.

With regard to the Bark Lake operation, Bob said, "From a business standpoint, I think that with partners like Wayne, Clement Chan and Peter Zuuring, as well as some

The Frost centre also caters to international students and has recently hosted a group of grade 11 students from Osaka, Japan and are currently entertaining a group of scouts from Northern

The Frost Centre is equipped with its own sewage treatment plant and homes for its staff.

Sherborne et al reeve Ross Rabjohn and Stanhope reeve Jock Mavor were present for the dinner and spoke to the group about the successes that the Frost Centre has had over the years.

Musician David Archibald performs at Frost Centre

Resources, Patricia Malcomson was on hand to present a plaque to Barrie Martin and Bob Pollard for the excellent services that the Frost Centre provides to their customers.

The evening closed with a musical celebration by David Archibald. It was an exciting presentation mixing humorous songs with ballads all of which celebrated the Frost Centre's heritage. A slide show was arranged with instrumental accompaniment composed by Archibald and presented on both the piano and the guitar (the piano having been pre-recorded). The audience enjoyed participating in a number of the songs by singing choruses and calling out pre-selected names of local heroes, which Archibald would then provide a little bit of a history lesson about or sing a song in their honour.

Building starts up for May and June

Notes from the July 10 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

Kitchen/bar

Council passed a motion to allow liquor to be sold from the kitchen of the Minden community centre for an August 2 summer hop dance.

Councillor Sinc Nesbitt was opposed to the motion, saying, "the kitchen was not built to serve alcoholic beverages. If you want another bar, then build one."

Nesbitt asked for a recorded vote. His was the only dissenting vote.

Councillor Grant Plooard was not in attendance for the meeting. He was vacationing out of the province.

30 metre setback

Council passed a by-law requiring a 30-metre setback for building on waterfront property.

The by-law didn't pass without some opposition. Councillor Sinc Nesbitt was opposed to the by-law.

"A building is not going to pollute the water," he said. "It's only the tile bed you have to worry about."

Nesbitt noted that 30 metres is a long way from the waterfront.

Building permits up

For the second month in a row, building permits issued by Anson, Hindon and Minden increased.

Councillor Daryl Moore noted that the past two building reports show that building starts are up three times what they were during the same period last year.

"It seems to be picking up again," said building inspector Doug Schell.

He noted that the end of May and first part of June were especially active, but that late June and early July saw a decrease in building permit applications.

"It's really good, compared to last year and the year before," Schell said.

Local model airplane club takes off

by Kevin Brezina

An explanation for the recent sightings of Superman along Deep Bay Road is now available.

Experts have attributed the sightings to an increase in the number of planes flying over the area.

Yes, Superman's second greatest rival for airtime (next to the birds, of course), has been making more appearances in this area of late thanks to a group of local hobbyists who are devotees to the art and science of model aircraft building and flying.

The Fun Flyers Club was formed several years ago by Terry Mokendanz and Wayne Coltman. It gives airplane hobbyists a forum to share knowledge of their craft, provide a suitable runway to test their creations, and, most importantly, to have fun.

The Flyers may not know much about the Man of Steel's flying techniques, but certainly know how to get an amalgam of balsa wood, glue, wires, other important ingredients and a motor into the air with the help of a ground-based radio controller.

The standard aircraft flown by a Fun Flyer member has a wingspan of about 180 cm, a weight of 3 kg, is powered by an alcohol-fueled engine, has a frame of balsa wood, and is controlled by a radio signal. Tally all this up, and you could expect to pay about $300 dollars for such an aircraft.

Naturally, none of the club's members would ever think of buying a completed aircraft. "Building them is half the fun," says Mokendanz, "It's a great hobby for anyone young or old." The popularity of this hobby appears to be on the increase. There are established clubs in Haliburton and Bracebridge, and now Mokendanz hopes to put Minden on the model aircraft map.

With five regular members and the recent acquisition of an official Modern Aeronautics Association charter, the Flyers seem to be well on their way. However, they encourage anyone interested in model aircraft to contact either Mokendanz or Coltman.

"With more members, we could set up regular meeting times...right now we just put the planes up whenever the wind dies down," says Mokendanz.

The flyers usually meet at a 600 foot runway about 4 km from Minden on Deep Bay Road to test their creations. They have also made use of the Stanhope airfield in the past, and had planned to meet the Bracebridge club there recently, but the event had to be cancelled due to inclement weather.

For those who always wished they could fly a plane, but didn't want to spend a great deal of time and an even greater amount of money to obtain a pilot's licence, this could be the club for you. Anyone interested can contact Mokendanz at 489-2292, or Coltman at 286-1601 for information. There is an annual $30 membership fee covering landing field maintenance, but it's a small price to pay when one considers that the birds have given up their hands for flight. Fun Flyers club...it could prove to be an uplifting experience.

Students, executives to mix at centre

One of the many meeting places at the centre. Bark Lake abounds with places to meet, to talk, to socialize, and to learn.

other great associates, I don't think we can fail with a team like that. I just hope they work hard and make it happen. I'm very excited. Finally, I got into something other than fishing."

Following the luncheon, guests were taken on a two-kilometre walking tour of the facilities.

Liz Fowler, the program manager at Bark Lake, said the corporate programs are operated through the auspices of Training Innovations of Whitby.

"We will run the corporate program through them," she said.

Many corporations have incentive programs which include Bark Lake sessions as bonuses, Fowler noted.

The Bark Lake operation employs 11 full-time staff members as well as several on a part-time basis. Instructors for the various courses are employed as required.

ESL classes are conducted on two-week rotations. Fowler said that in the summer, there are as many as 95 ESL students at the facility at one time. Numbers drop to about 36 per session during the winter months. The student to instructor ratio is kept to an average of 15 to one or less.

"We like to have a multi-cultural atmosphere in the dining hall," Fowler said.

Shad Valley is the biggest youth program which operates at Bark Lake. Grade 11 and 12 students from across Canada spent most of the month of July at Bark Lake honing science, technology and entrepreneurship skills.

Programs are customized to suit the requirements of the participants, whether they are high school students or corporate executives, Fowler noted.

Anglers give boost to spawning project request resulted in four volunteers attending. Here, when we arrived to do the work last year there were 50 people waiting at the dock!"

He said because of the enthusiastic turn-out the spawning bed improvement project was completed quickly and the fish are taking advantage of the new facilities.

The group was invited to become involved in a project to raise lake trout hatched from eggs gathered from local lakes.

Hewitt told the meeting that the Ministry of Natural Resources would no longer be stocking the three lakes with lake trout as they are now considered naturally reproducing. However, it has been given approval from the ministry to raise fingerlings from eggs and sperm stripped from fish taken from the lakes. Before proceeding with this project, the association must determine if the lake trout in the three lakes are genetically identical. If they are the same, the fingerlings can be raised together for all Stanhope reeve Jock Mavor told the Halls and Hawk Lake Association he would not be seeking re-election.

Overuse affecting environment

Association told camping causing problems

three lakes. If not, separate tanks of fish will have to be maintained.

To obtain a reading on the genetic make-up of lake trout in the three lakes, anglers were invited to take part in a fishing program this past weekend. Twenty lake trout from Halls Lake and 10 each from Little and Big Hawk lakes will be sent to the laboratory for testing. Once it is complete, the Outdoors Association will be able to proceed with its hatchery plans.

Once the hatchery program begins, it will be a year and a half before the first fingerlings can be raised and put into the lakes. Hewitt noted that predation loss for fingerlings hatched in the lake is extremely high, especially in the first year. So introducing one and a half year old hatchery-raised lake trout which are genetically compatible will not only increase the number of fish in the lake but increase the breeding stock as well.

Hewitt thanked the lake association for its support of their efforts. Later in the meeting, the membership approved a $300 donation for the Outdoors Association to support its work.

President's report

The president of the Halls and Hawk Lakes Property owners Association, Tom Gardner, told the meeting membership in the organization stood at 375 for 1996-97.

In other items he noted that the Ontario Provincial Police will be re-establishing a full detachment in the county later this year. The office will be located in a portion of the Ministry of Natural Resources building on Highway 35, once the renovations are complete.

Gardner reminded the members this is a municipal election year and members should watch for advance poll information or arrange for proxy voting if they are unable to get to the poll in Stanhope Township.

He informed the group that 24 hour emergency service is available through the Minden Hospital and outlined the plans for renovation and relocation of the hospitals in the Highlands.

Camping & canoeing

According to Rob Hartry, the camping registry which the association established last year is helping to track the use of public land in the Hawk lakes.

The registry, in which campers are asked to check in at the stores at either Big or Little Hawk landings, has helped to identify the areas being used to for camping and those that may be over-used. The lakes are on popular canoe routes of camps throughout the county and beyond.

Hartry said that as of early July, 400 campers had registered. He expected up to 1000 will pass through the area before the summer is over.

He told the meeting there are a number of environmental "hot spots" where heavy use by campers has created problems. By asking campers to register, it is hoped they can be directed away from these areas to give them an opportunity to recover from over-use.

Reeve's report

Stanhope Reeve Jock Mavor addressed the meeting, telling the members that Stanhope was able to bring in another budget this year without a rate increase. He said the zero tax increase did not come without its costs, as the road staff hours were cut to help meet some short-falls, an action the council had preferred not to take.

He noted that the fire department, which Mavor described as "the best in the county" had been given approval to purchase a new truck. Fund raising for the purchase is underway. (Later in the meeting the association approved a $200 donation to the fire department to assist in the purchase of the vehicle.)

Mavor reminded the members that this year is the 100th anniversary of the municipality as an independent entity. Stanhope had been part of the townships of Sherborne et al until 1897 when the population decided to establish a separate administration. The reeve pointed out that after a century of independence, Stanhope and Sherborne are drifting back together again. While formal amalgamation does not appear to be an immediate option, the two municipalities have shared services such as road maintenance and the by-law officer now works for the two municipalities.

On a county-wide basis, Mavor said his fellow county councillors have rejected the idea of a single tier government for the county, "Because it would not prove to be cost-effective."

He also told the meeting that the federal government is attempting to get out of maintaining the public docks at the two Hawk lakes. He said the municipality would not allow the docking facilities to fall into private hands.

Association President Tom Gardner thanked the reeve for his presentation and, noting that he was retiring from political life, expressed the membership's thanks for his service to the township.

Clear Lake Conservation Area

The meeting was told that a conservation area north of the Hawk lakes had been established by the Ministry of Natural Resources. The designation protects the area from such activities as road construction, mining and logging. It protects the natural features in the area, including the hemlock trees which are believed to be more than 400 years old. Clear Lake is also unique in that it is meromictic which means the water does not "turn over" as the seasons change. Without this yearly turn over, the sediment at the bottom of Clear Lake provides scientists with an undisturbed historical record to study and analyze.

Fish prizes

The annual fishing awards were presented by the association. Fred Olson won the prize for the largest lake trout. It was caught in Halls Lake and weighed in at seven pounds, nine ounces. The largest bass was caught by Tom Brady in Big Hawk Lake. It weighed in at five pounds, 12 ounces.

Before the meeting was adjourned, Gardner suggested that rather than lugging heavy tinned goods back to the city at the end of the cottage season, the members could drop them off for the Minden Food Bank. Collection boxes are located near the front doors of both Minden IGA and Valu-mart food stores.

Mountain Lake elects three new directors

Mac Ellis, area supervisor of the Trent Severn Waterway, was the meeting's guest speaker. He explained why it was necessary to "inconvenience" some property owners along the Gull River in an attempt to avert the possibility of a damaging floods if the wet weather had persisted.

Ellis explained that the lakes are filled to capacity by December and slowly drawn down over the winter months in preparation for the spring thaw.

"We try to provide a buffer for flooding," Ellis said, adding that this year the water levels were very high because it rained for most of the month of May.

"Weather forecasting is the weakest link," he said. "We walk a tightrope."

With regard to Mountain Lake, Ellis said that when the water flow is low, Mountain and Horseshoe Lakes are virtually even. But when the water flow is high, Mountain lake rises faster because of the restriction between the two lakes.

"Mountain Lake is a problem for us," Ellis admitted, noting that the levels aren't controlled by a dam at the outflow.

Ellis pointed out that the waterway tries to maintain water levels to accommodate the lake trout spawning in October.

"We try to draw the lakes down by the first of October in lakes where we know the trout spawn in shallow water so they aren't left high and dry," he said.

Ellis was asked if the new power plant at Fenelon Falls will have any effect on water levels in Haliburton County.

"The short answer is no," he said. "The Trent Severn Waterway decides how much water to run and they will make use of it the best they can. If they don't use the water, it goes over the dam."

Ellis said that the power dam at Minden causes very high fluctuations in the level of the Gull River in Minden.

Ellis gave a brief history of the Trent Canal system, explaining that the local district comprises an area about the size of Algonquin Park, with a total of 45 dams. His staff is divided into crews of six, each looking after 15 dams. The water storage capacity of the lakes in the system ranges from two to 13 feet.

The system is a year-round operation. Early in the year, stop logs are put in to start raising the water levels and by May, the storage is at maximum. Water is released at the top of the chain to replace water that evaporates.

"About half the water we release from here is evaporated by the time it gets to Peterborough," Ellis explained. "By the time it gets to Trenton, it's all gone."

He noted that as much as possible is kept for local use.

Daniel thanked Ellis for his presentation, saying, "It's nice to know there are people looking after our interests."

Events

The Kids Rock Bass Derby, which was held July 19, and the Long Distance Swim and Picnic, slated for August 3, were outlined. The MNR boat launch off Jordan Drive will be the base of operations for the swim and picnic. The contact for the swim is George Steeves (286-1454) and Steve Taylor is the picnic contact (286-1888). The event will feature games and activities for all ages. It attracted 104 participants last year. It will run from 1-6 p.m. and is free for members and their immediate families.

Bill Durkin is the contact for the nine-hole golf tournament at Beaverbrook on August 6. Durkin can be reached at 286-4851. It will be a foursome tournament with a "complicated handicap system" to make it fair for everybody.

Lake steward

Gary Chapman, who has been the lake steward for several years, reported that in six years, he's had two questions -- one about a bat house and the other about a power outage.

The lake steward is the liaison between the association and such organizations as the Ministry of Natural Resources, Ministry of Environment and Energy and the Federation of Ontario Cottager Associations.

Chapman is turning the lake steward responsibilities over to Bruce MacMillan. Chapman noted that the job is an important one and he encouraged the members to contact Bruce if they need any information.

Water quality

Bruce Macmillan reported that the water quality is excellent. Testing on Mountain Lake has been conducted for nearly two decades. The secchi disc remained visible down to more than five metres.

MacMillan noted that water testing has been conducted a dozen or more times throughout the season in the past. Under the new Lake Partners Program, the water samples will be collected and analyzed just twice a year.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon spoke briefly to the members. She noted that the business park plans are progressing according to schedule. The business park will be located at the junction of Prince Street and Highway 35 in Minden.

She noted that construction on the new hospital is scheduled to get under way this fall and that emergency services will continue to be available in Minden 24 hours per day.

Anthon said that actual value assessment (AVA) will become a reality and that it will result in a major tax shift. She noted that there will be some property tax relief for seniors and disabled people.

Food Bank donation

A motion to donate $100 to the Minden Food Bank was passed by the membership.

"Quite a few people rely on it," Daniel said.

Advance polls

The dates of the advance polls for the municipal election were announced. Those who can't take time off on a weekday to vote will be able to take advantage of one of the advance polls on Saturday, October 25 or Saturday, November 1.

As of July 5, the only declared candidates for Anson, Hindon and Minden were Jeanne Anthon and Jerry Rome, who are running for reeve and deputy-reeve respectively.

Newsletter

Judy Chapman has taken over the duty of editor of the bi-annual newsletter.

Book winner

At the beginning of the meeting, Ian Daniel promised that someone would win a copy of Susan Wilson's book Explore Haliburton. The winner was Libby Hurre.

New executive members

Steve Taylor was elected president of the Mountain Lake Property Owners' Association. The vice-president is Ken Lewis. The three new directors are Bill Durkin, Jack Higginson and Jacqueline Martin.

Daniel said the association has about 150 members of 200 property owners on the lake.

"It has been a privilege and a pleasure to be the president of this organization," Daniel said. "It's nice to see people showing pride in ownership of their lake property."

Residents enjoy Rotary Park picnic

The summer is really scooting by. It is almost the end of July. Hope you are enjoying the season as much as we are. On Friday morning we watched a movie and in the afternoon, at our happy hour, we were joined by Doris and her friend, Lisa, who entertained us. That was a good time for sure. In the evening we were treated to a nice lunch and ice cream.

Robbie Young is continuing to improve and is looking forward to when he can visit with us once again. And a warm welcome back to John Dicker who was in Lindsay Hospital.

On Saturday, Gord Kennedy played piano for us and the following Monday, Allsaw Pentecostal was here for our hymn sing.

We were pleased to hear that Dorie McAllister's husband, Tom, is back home from hospital. However, our sympathy goes to Dorie on the death of her father William Given. A few of us visited Monk Funeral Home on Tuesday to pay our respects to Dorie's dad.

Also that day, a group of us got together and made our own lunch. Bessie Burk, one of our residents, had her own recipe for onion pie. The onions came from our own garden, nice and fresh, with home made pastry. This was served with a lovely salad with fruit salad for dessert. We enjoyed this lunch in the garden area in the fresh air. What a treat it was.

Wednesday, 23rd, a full bus left for Minden Rotary Park for a picnic. The weather was beautiful and the surroundings quite lovely. Sandwiches, veggie nibblers and home made desserts made for a wonderful picnic.

Jack and Ruth Foster entertained us with music and a sing song while we were there. Afterwards we all packed up, back on the bus for a drive up to 12 Mile Lake Road, around the lake, passing by the two old churches. What a lovely drive along there. Then we headed back to Kawartha Dairy for our ice cream. A wonderful afternoon.

In the evening, Bert Bonnell was with us and we all enjoyed a sing song. Our many thanks to all the volunteers, to Jack and Ruth Foster and last but not least, the activity staff. Without these people our picnic would not have been possible or enjoyed so much. This afternoon, the Carnarvon U.C.W. will be here to serve at our weekly tea party. Thank you ladies.

This evening, as on Thursday evenings past, a group of us get together for "quiet time". This is well attended and our volunteer who hosts this activity provides a relaxed atmosphere with appropriate music in the background, where we may have a quiet chat, listen to a reading, enjoy a good piece of music, many different things. Whatever we do, it is always enjoyed and we come away feeling good.

Time to wish Ed McCann a happy birthday. Ed celebrates his 77th birthday on July 31. Guess that's all the news for now. Catch you next week.

Senior League

Information booth will demonstrate new ways to enjoy fruits & vegetables

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit will be hosting a "Wellness Garden" event on Friday, August 15 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., outside the IGA in Minden. The Wellness Garden is a display and information booth to help promote the consumption of vegetables and fruit.

The public is welcome to drop by the Wellness Garden for a food experience like no other. In addition to information regarding vegetables and fruit, Registered Dietitians, Rosie Kadwell and Anne Adair, along with Nutrition Student Nicki Dollo, will be on hand to answer questions. There will also be an opportunity to taste and see new and delicious ways of preparing fruits and vegetables. The food for this event has been generously donated by Dollo's IGA, and there is no cost to consumers.

The Wellness Garden initiative is being launched in response to the results of the Ontario Health Survey (1990). The Ontario survey found that only 44% of Ontario residents are consuming the minimum recommended number of servings of vegetables and fruit.

Increasing the consumption of vegetables and fruit as recommended by Canada's Food Guide is a key strategy in improving the eating habits of Haliburton County residents and building a healthier community.

Around the County Town

by Gord Graham (call 286-6506 - FAX 286-3460)

"How could the prisoner have gotten away?" snarled the inspector. "I told you to put men on all the entrances".

"So I did", came the reply, "but I think he got out by one of the exits".

On Friday, August 8, from 2-6 p.m., and Saturday, August 9 from 8 a.m.-1 p.m. the Norland United Church Women will be hosting a new event. Visionaries in the group have jazzed up the idea of the ordinary yard sale and you will experience something quite unique when you stop at the mall on Highway 35, just north of the flashing light. The property is locally identified as Rotha's home. (I'll tempt your palate with more exciting news of this event next week).

When you are planning your summer outings and vacations this year before you go don't forget the Minden Emergency Food Bank. They still need your regular support week in and week out.

It was so nice to hear from Ed and Peg Pettinger last week. Did you know that they celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary on July 16? On the Saturday following, Ed, in his new apartment in Staunworth Court, celebrated the occasion with wife Peg, with brother and his wife and daughter from Toronto, with nephew and niece from Ottawa plus their grandson and granddaughter. Imagine, 59 years - congratulations Ed and Peg, we wish you the very best.

The Haliburton County Fair August 15, 16 and 17 is calling you. Remember that all entries must be placed in the Exhibit Building on Thursday, August 14. Memberships, entry tags etc. can be picked up from the secretary (488-2613) on Wednesday, August 13 from 12:30-4:30 pm at the food booth in the fairgrounds.

Promise yourself to be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you would be about your own success.

Whether we know it or not, we all rely very much on tourism so let's be town proud and give them a tidy, clean and neat environment.

English has become the most widely spoken language in the world, but the language remains a problem for local people in many countries. For example: from a Korean hotel lobby: "the elevator is being fixed for the next day and during that time, we regret that you will be unbearable". And from a menu in a Swiss restaurant: "Our wines will leave you nothing to hope for". (More next week).

And from our very own St. Paul's Friendship Club here in Minden we have, "lone hands by Marie Dennie, high scores by Betty Hardy and Barb Braithwaite and 50/50 draw by Verna McDonald". This, of course was the announcement of last week's winners at the infamous euchre games played in the Church basement. Care to join them? You would be most welcome. Come Mondays at 1:30 p.m. and see for yourself.

Club 35 enjoys euchre every week on Mondays too but at 7:30 p.m. It is yours to discover and partners are not required. Last week Harv Bunker won the 50/50 draw plus the low score, Pearl Kernohan had the most lone hands, Olive Daniels and Ivan Kernohan had the high scores while Grace Cowen had the ladies low score. Guess who won the baloney? Wrong! It was Verna Sawyer.

Seniors bid euchre is enjoyed every Tuesday starting at 1:30 p.m. in the Minden Legion and last week they had a special visitor from Barrie - Helen Dennie, who is trying to learn the game. Marg McAfee says she is a good pupil. Helen didn't show up in the list of winners but give her time. Those names that did show up were Pat Roussel, Ruth Kellett and Jim Cowan for the high scores, Shirley Elcome hidden score, Ruth and Marg moonshots.

Contract bridge is enjoyed every Tuesday starting at 1 p.m. in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall. Come out and test your skills. Partners are not required.

They held a big buck bid euchre on Wednesday, July 16 in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall and a good time was had by all. Imagine, 10 moonshots and 21 tables! That's a good crowd. The top 4 winners were Dot Kingdon with 292, Stan Walters 291, Walter Malk 279 and Mary Pearson 272. Join them for their regular bid euchre games every Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Euchre winners from the Minden Legion's play held on July 17, were Sherin Brown and Earl Hayne most lone hands, Bill Mitchell and Sherin high scores, Dorothy Kellett and Ed Hisson low scores. Other prizes were awarded too and they went to Marcel Roussel, Maxine Cross, Nick Nimigon, Sherin and Dorothy. Meet Thursday at 7:15 p.m.

Club 35 in Halls Lake meet Fridays at 7 p.m. for bid euchre and on July 18 five moonshots were awarded to Grace Dixon, Wally Thomson, Norm Lee, Lou Penick and Marg McAfee. The high score winners were Grace, Jeanne Penick, Marg McAfee, Gala Stamp, Mary Pearson and Lou. The hidden score went to Alf Whyman. Three door prizes were awarded as well. Lots of fun! Come out and join them.

HEALTH NEWS:

Older and Wiser:

More and more, seniors in Ontario are discovering the joys of active living. Statistically, the +65 group has one of the highest increases in the number of people exercising 3 times per week or more. For seniors, making physical activity a natural part of a daily routine can make an incredible difference in their lives.

By age 65 we may have lost 30-40% of the physiological functions we had at age 25, but 50% of this age related loss is actually due to inactivity. (More on this next week).

ANNUAL REPORT of THE MINDEN HOSPITAL FUND

The Minden Hospital Building Fund was established by the Rotary Club of Minden to provide a mechanism for those wishing to set aside funds for the replacement of the present Minden Hospital. All monies contributed to the fund are placed in a special account. The rules governing this account allow for the money to be withdrawn to assist in the replacement of the present hospital or for the growth and expansion of the facilities of the existing Hospital.

The Rotary Club of Minden has agreed to underwrite the cost of operating this special fund and ensure ongoing management of the dollars entrusted to the fund. Six trustees, three Rotarians and three members of the community, have been appointed to oversee the management of this money.

As of July 1st, 1993, the fund has received status as a registered charity. Accordingly, official income tax receipts can be issued for your donation if requested.

The support of the general public through the purchase of Nevada Break-open tickets at Dollo's IGA is much appreciated as are the many local "In Memoriam Donations". In particular, the trustees wish to thank the 1996 Minden Home and Garden Tour for the substantial contribution to the fund.

In establishing this fund, it was decided that an Annual Report would be made to the community. The following report has been approved by the trustees overseeing the fund: Chairman, Brian F. Adamson; Treasurer, Russell C. Fair; Trustees, Barry Cray, Todd Grainger, Russel Paul and Nora Snyder.

This report covers the period from January 1, 1996 to December 31, 1996.
